

Stinova cause stir at Sceenmedia Expo with innovative technologies

Stinova Ltd., provider of Digital Signage software solutions introduce a number of innovative technologies at Screenmedia Expo 2010 in London, booth E25, unveiling leading edge solutions for the rapidly growing Digital Signage market.

Stinova makes Digital Signage affordable and extends its SaaS offering with a completely “Free to Use Service” not limited by time constraints. The basic package includes a cost free client software for Windows and a free account on Stinova’s advanced DMS 4 hosted server farm with a web space of 10 MB.

Driving 3D technology further, the enhanced 3D panel technology supported by Stinova improves the possible views from 5 to 8 providing an even more realistic viewing experience without the need for glasses. Additionally the contrast has been increased by 4 times allowing a much broader usage in many different locations.

Stinova’s proven Digital Media Server technology is now available as a VMware virtual server appliance, allowing Digital Signage network operators to make use of all advantages a virtualized server environment provides such as installation within minutes, easy relocation, easy scalability, easy backup and flexibility at a very competitive price. VMware images are available for DMS3 and DMS4.

Introducing the world’s smallest Digital Signage micro kiosk is a perfect entry into the gastronomy and POS retail market. Independent of any infrastructure including network or power, the Micro Kiosk can be placed on any table and runs for 15 hours providing an innovative POS tool with a minimum foot space.

Last but not least Stinova opens with the WEB Media Caster portal (www.WebMediaCaster.com) its unique WYSIWYG WEB based composer technology to any web designer or web site owner allowing to create and maintain dynamic and media rich Microsites with its DMS4 WEB CMS technology. This allows any WEB site owner to enrich and manage it as easy as using a text editor. The WEB Media Caster basic package is available free of charge.
